Combining the skills of draftsmen and the talent of artists with the latest software technology, our staff produces utility and design illustrations needed to comply with the requirements of the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO), the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT), the European Patent Organization (EPO), and many other patent offices throughout the world.

While many companies utilize off-shore resources to minimize their costs and maximize their profits, at intentio we believe it is important to keep jobs here in the USA. We also understand that without you, our clients, these jobs would not be possible. We realize we work for you, so you'll always be able to rely on effective communications with us, as well as uncompromised service, quality, and value.

Standard Per Sheet Pricing with our client's budget in mind

Tell us what your project requirements are. Will you be providing a text description, CAD files, sketches, or photographs? Transmuting like alchemists, we can work from most sources. What is your required delivery date? When we commit to your delivery requirement, you can count on us – even if our staff needs to work through the night. Some might call it magic, we call it reliable service.
